

Feasibility study on the interconnection of south and eastern African research networks to GÉANT

Question 1:

Which African countries may participate in southern and eastern African National Research and Education Networks (NRENs)?

Answer 1:

Generally there is one National Research and Education Network (NREN) per country all around the world. Countries of south and eastern Africa are supposed to have each their own national research and education network. For more information about the NRENs you may contact the National Research and Education Network in your country.
